

Cognisium launches webinar series

Cognisium Pty Ltd Tuesday, September 14th, 2021

PERTH (Australia) - Cognisium is excited to announce the launch of “Cognisium Webinars”, a series of free virtual events designed to surface topics of interest to the independent consultant community and wider management consulting circles.

The programme dates and interlocutors will be published on the Cognisium website on September 15, 2021.

Commenting on the launch of this initiative, Dr Dorel Iosif, Board Director and CEO of Cognisium said:

“I am thrilled to see this initiative taking shape and hope that the freelance and independent consultant community will participate in these forums.

Over the next few months, we will be welcoming some amazing speakers, outstanding leaders, and subject matter experts such as James Kerr, Jonathan Cave, Anita Lettink, Ravi Chaudhry and Joe O’Mahoney.

We assembled a diversified agenda that encompasses topics such as: future of work, strategy, exceptional leadership, decision making and freelance management consulting to name just a few.”

The Cognisium Webinars will be held online, and Cognisium experts will have the opportunity to register via personalised invitations.
