

All-Ways Training is One of the First Australian Providers to Announce Latest Updated Assistant High Pressure Water Course

All-Ways Training Services Wednesday, April 6th, 2022

An updated version of the Assistant high pressure water jetting (HPWJ) training, “MSMSS00017 Use high pressure water jetting equipment”, is now available in Australia. With industry standards constantly under review, employers and users of equipment can easily ensure compliance with this market-leading course that’s receiving great reviews from the first cohorts of candidates.

Safety and knowledge are a priority when using water jetting equipment. Industry standards demand that users have the latest training, making updated courses a must when seeking an education provider. All-Ways Training Services are renowned for offering the latest courses for all levels of users, not only for high pressure water jetting but also for drain cleaning and vacuum training. The latest version of MSMSS00017 Use high pressure water jetting equipment (HPWJ Assistant) has succeeded the previous MSMSS00003 and provides the latest education to candidates.

Contact Profile

All-Ways Training Services

All-Ways Training Services is a leading provider of accredited training services for high-pressure water jetting, draining cleaning and vacuum courses. In conjunction with their third party partner, WOMA (Australia) Pty Ltd, AWTS courses are designed to provide delegates with the necessary fundamentals, principles and practical components necessary for users to operate equipment safely and competently. We pride ourselves in quality training, with safety being of utmost importance.

Discover more at

<https://www.all-waystraining.com.au>

Dianne Blevin

P: 08 9434 6622

M: 08 9434 6622

W: www.all-waystraining.com.au

E: admin@awtstraining.com.au

The course, along with all the others on offer from All-Ways Training Services, is carried out face-to-face. It can be attended at one of the company's dedicated training facilities that serve Western Australia and New South Wales, or, in the case of a number of students and/or bespoke needs, carried out at a suitable business premise.

This latest course has already welcomed two cohorts of trainees with great positive feedback. A theme that runs through many of the comments is the ease with which the training information is communicated and the confidence students gained from the combination of theory and practical elements. The quality of the student guidebook is also an aspect that trainees felt exceeded their expectations.

Testimonials from the latest students include:

“Good facilities and great knowledge from trainer, which has improved my understanding of HPWJ blasting”

“Very thorough course in explaining how all parts and aspects work”

The course is completed over two days. Successful completion equips students with the requirements specified by industry-standard AS 4233:1. More courses are scheduled to take place over the coming weeks and months.

---

About All-Ways Training Services

All-Ways Training Services provides a portfolio of training courses serving the high-pressure water jetting, jetting, drain cleaning and vacuum industries. The wide range of training on offer has been designed to cover every level of user, from those new to the industry to more advanced user and refresher courses. Working in conjunction with their third party partner, WOMA (Australia) Pty Ltd, they cover both NSW and WA from two custom-designed training facilities.

Discover more at <https://www.all-waystraining.com.au>